A NEW RICE COMPANY.

PHILANTHROPIC WUCHOW VENTURE.

A new company has been formed in Wuchow with a capital of $700,000 for the purpose of importing rice from Siam to relieve the famine there. This year's crop has been so bad that the supply of rice could not meet the demand, with the result that a few philanthropic gentlemen have formed themselves into a syndicate for the purpose of importing rice, not with a view of making profits for themselves, but to relieve the pressing needs of the populace.

A large order has already been placed for Siam rice and when this arrives, the rice market will be easier and prices are likely to drop considerably.

LOCAL SUGAR TRADE.

It is not without good reasons
that the Jardine and Takoo sugar
refinery closed down their business.
Chinese dealers are also hard hit
by the keen competition of Java sugar.

There is a large stock in the Colony at present, and every incoming steamer from Java brings further consignments to Hong Kong. Prices have dropped to $7.40 per bag of one picul, which works out to only 7 cents and four cash per catty.

FIREMEN USED TO SOLICIT INSURANCE.

STRANGE STORY FROM JAPAN.

Complaint is heard among fire insurance circles in Japan that certain underwriting firms are employing fire fighters belonging to village-and-town brigades in many parts of the country for soliciting
new business, which is an infringement of the agreement entered into to some time ago. Unless this practice is halted in time and very promptly it may pave the way for further keen competition in the insurance business.

It was agreed by the Showa Kai
insurance companies some time ago
that each company should refrain from making special donations to any fire brigade in a particular village or town when such contribution is sought. This stand has been agreed upon on the ground that such action in favour of a few village brigades by insurance firms
was unfair to the far larger number of fire-fighting bodies in other parts of the country. If this practice of donations is to be conducted on a nationwide scale, the insurance community will have to mark up rates to insurers to a level
which would be not only unethical but impossible under the present circumstances.

Because of the fact that insurance companies are contributing an amount of money every year to the Japan Fire Prevention Association, no further contribution to individual brigades will be necessary, it was argued, and the Showa Kai has resolved that all such individual requests would hereafter be turned down. Some of the brigades soliciting donations, it is alleged, proposed that they would assist those companies making contribution in acquiring new insurance business in their localities and a few firms have secretly agreed to that proposal.

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS.

HOW TO GET QUICK RELIEF.

Indigestion is not only painful,
but if neglected soon becomes dangerous. Excess stomach and fermenting food irritate the delicate stomach lining, form gas, and, by interfering with proper nourishment, actually break down health.
The surest, quickest, and only logical way to relieve indigestion
is to neutralize the acid and stop the food fermentation which causes
it; and "Bismarck" Magnesia will do this instantly. The sour fermented stomach contents are sweetened, the acid-inflamed stomach lining is soothed, natural healthy stomach conditions are restored, and painless, healthful digestion follows
at once. "Bismarck" Magnesia removes the cause of indigestion and gives relief from the most severe attack in less than five minutes.
Get a package from your chemist
to-day, either powder or tablets,
and see how quickly you get complete stomach comfort.

CHINESE LONG DISTANCE FLIGHT.

SECOND STAGE SUCCESSFULLY FLOWN.

HOW PROGRESS MAY BE MADE WITH CHINESE AVIATION.

[By R. VAUGHAN-FOWLER.]

The Chinese Long Distance Flight, under the Command of General Cheung Wai Jung, Director of the Canton Aviation Bureau is progressing favourably, the aviators having reached Nanking on the evening of the 15th.

I should like to make it perfectly clear that this flight must not be considered as an aerial race, round China, it is nothing of the kind, and was never intended as such. Its object is far more important—an aerial survey and investigation of the possibilities of aerial transport in China.

The Second Stage.

The second stage, that from Hankow to Nanking, which was successfully flown on the 15th inst., is the shortest in the programme, being only 200 miles.

It will be realised that this short distance could be covered by modern aircraft in less than three hours if the flight were made for commercial purposes, and under present conditions this means a saving of at least 48 hours.

Chinese Air Lines.

Twice in one week General Cheung has proved what the development of Chinese Air Lines will mean to the mails, as well as to the business men, who have to journey long distances in China.

In the face of these demonstration flights it is no longer possible for the pessimists to cry "impossible." Aircraft have proved themselves to be a safe and reliable means of transport in most parts of the world, and the air over China, as well as the weather, is as suitable as that of Europe, in point of fact the weather conditions are vastly superior.

The major difficulty would seem to be the early establishment of safe landing grounds, along the routes, together with the building up of a sound ground organisation. This difficulty can undoubtedly be overcome in a short time. All that is required is capital and a little thought to make certain that progress is along sound lines.

There is every reason to hope that the flight will be completed successfully, and that General Cheung will arrive back in Canton without any unwelcome adventures. If this is the case, there should be no difficulty in obtaining the necessary capital immediately, for the establishment of permanent air services, not only between Hong Kong and Canton, but for the longer routes to the north.

I think I am safe in saying that the lack of communications between North and South China has played a big part in the misunderstandings that have arisen in the past.

If I am correct in this, aviation in China will become a vehicle of peace, and will enable those living many hundreds of miles apart to better understand each other.

This theory is not new, it has been given as one of the urgent reasons why the British Empire requires aerial services, to link up the Colonies with the Mother Country, so even if there is only an atom of truth in it, it deserves serious consideration as applied to China.

Chinese Pilots and Engineers.

If the air routes of China are to be developed to any extent it will be necessary for China to train both Pilots and Engineers. In my article published in the Daily Press on the 15th inst., entitled "Chinese Flying Training School," I gave details of the school already in existence at Canton.

However, there is still a lot to be done; Rome was not built in a day, neither can efficient flying services be established in the course of a year or even two.

In the rush for rapid progress it would be fatal if the corner stone of the foundations were left un-laid, and that foundation is, the organisation of a well-equipped training establishment. The material is there, so it is to be hoped that the sound beginning that has already been made will not be swamped by the success of flights over the actual routes.

There are already many capable Chinese pilots and engineers, but many more are required. Machines can be obtained at short notice, but the personnel to use them takes many months to train. In all seriousness I say that those responsible for Chinese Aviation should take as their motto: "Pilots and Engineers First."

TRICK CYCLIST'S PERIL.

HANGING BY HIS TEETH FROM ROOF OF CIRCUS.

BERLIN, Oct. 17th.

Louis Segouin, the French acrobat cyclist, who, with his French collaborator, was giving a star turn performance at the Busch Circus here last night, had an accident which almost cost him his life.

The two Frenchmen were on a cycle riding upside down on a rail 50 feet high round the dome of the circus, when the bicycle, for some reason, stood still, neither going forward nor backwards. Louis clung on by his teeth, and remained hanging in view of the horrified spectators.

There was no net to save him from an imminent fall, and the rope ladder was out of reach. In a moment or two his jaws would no longer stand the strain. There was fierce excitement among the public, and the circus attendants lost their heads.

A carpet was hurried to the scene and held beneath the acrobat, who finally let go his dental hold and dropped down. But the force of the 50 feet fall rent the carpet, and the acrobat fell heavily through to the ground, where he lay unconscious.

All thought he was dead, but a short while afterwards, supported by two men, he smiled at the audience. In a few days he will be back at work in the circus, but will no doubt perform over a net next time.

SHARES IN A CHURCH.

WHEN A DIVIDEND WAS PAID OUT OF COLLECTIONS.

SOUTHAMPTON.

Considerable interest attaches to St. Paul's Church, Southampton, the centenary of which is being commemorated shortly, for apart from a donation of 100 guineas from the corporation towards the funds for its erection, it appears that a company was formed, and people were invited to buy shares.

An extract from the minute book throws light on the amazing financial arrangements of the church. It states that: "At a general meeting of the shareholders held in the vestry of St. Paul's Chapel on January 5th, 1899," the committee reported that a meeting of the proprietors of St. Paul's Chapel had directed extra expenses to be incurred in completing the chapel, and that nearly £1,000 had been expended beyond the original subscriptions of £5,000. The Minute added:

It consequently became necessary to request an advance of £20 per cent. on each share, which advance has been cheerfully assented to by a great majority of the shareholders, while a very few had signified their disinclination to make any addition to their original subscription.

It seems that the original clergyman's salary and the dividend (4 per cent.) due to the shareholders was paid out of the pew rents and offertory.

LESS SLEEPY SICKNESS IN BRITAIN.

Doctors are puzzled by the continuous decrease in the number of cases of sleepy sickness (encephalitis lethargica). This disease, for which there is no known cure, has grave after-effects on character.

Dr. G. A. Borthwick, the Metropolitan Asylums Board's medical superintendent at the Northern Hospital, said to a Daily Mail reporter: "The number of patients admitted continues to decrease and the decrease throughout the country is maintained. The disease first appeared in Great Britain in 1917 and the decrease might be due to the fact that we are getting away from the war period."

SILVER SCREEN.

THE ART OF EMIL JANNINGS.

Mr. Emil Jannings is one of the most accomplished of film actors. There are many people inside the film industry who contend that he is much more. They say that he is a brilliant director, too, unofficially.

Certainly the films that he plays in have an uncanny knack of turning out exceptionally good.

People consequently say that Mr. Jannings is so intelligent that his influence on those making any film he is in provides an asset at least as great as his own histrionic ability.

Silly Melodrama.

If that is so he must have played in "The Street of Sin," very much against his own judgment. It is not a good film, and Jannings, himself, is even ridiculous at times. This is hardly his fault; for he does his work conscientiously. But he is given ridiculous things to do.

The story deals with a big, hulking slum bully, who joins the Salvation Army because he is fascinated by a preacher's lass, yet becomes sincerely converted in the end. It is almost impossible for Mr. Jannings to act either sincerely or really once he joins the Army. The film deteriorates into the cheapest and silliest melodrama, the characters do things for no convincing motive, rape and fire and conversions and reconciliations are heaped on each other as in the old-time serials. It is really quite a shame to let Mr. Jannings waste himself like this. There are things he cannot do. He tries to do most of them in "The Street of Sin."

Crime And Charm.

"Hell's Kitchen," is quite good. Miss Phyllis Haver, not nearly as hard boiled as in "Chicago," and consequently without the same opportunities, is belovely by two young men. One is rather a nutty hand, at cards and the other has just given up his association with a crook gang.

Other charming people pass in and out of the picture, of whom the nicest are an old Jewish money-lender and bootlegger, and a pathetically ratlike, little chap who supplies the liquor to the Jew. Even the detectives have charm and character. They borrow a coin in the friendliest way from men they have just arrested to telephone for the police wagon.

The beliefs, what is the truth, that life in the circles of New York which border on the criminal is really exciting. There is a horrible murder, depicted very thrillingly, and the real villain also gives value for money by trying to escape right at the end and then getting himself shot dead. The greatest praise is due to Mr. Joseph Schildkraut for his performance as the villain: it is thorough and vivid. Mr. Victor Varconi is pleasant as the other young man, and of course Miss Haver is infinitely accomplished and attractive.

Better Crook Films.

So much improvement has been made lately in American films dealing with low life and particularly with crooks (since "Paying the Penalty" set the fashion) that one hopes other types of pictures may soon follow suit. Care has been used in getting the proper atmosphere, the correct characteristics. Miss Haver, backtracking herself for conquest, wishes her feet instead of having a bath, for instance. That touch tells one volume about her. And some of the sub-titles are as effective as they are slangy.

"The South Sea Bubble," Ivor Novello's latest picture is "The South Sea Bubble." A young man, bored and disillusioned, decides to turn rogue and lead a bogus expedition after buried treasure. When a strange but sympathetic collection of adventure-seekers joins him he is torn between compunction and recklessness. Though the film has not been at all cleverly made, it manages to keep one interested until the moment when the treasure is found. This unfortunately is a real anti-climax.

Mr. Novello, with moustache, does not seem especially at ease, though quite competent and agreeable in his role. Miss Benita Hume is disappointing as the heroine. Miss Alma Taylor as an old maid in search of a thrill is excellent, and the villain, Mr. S. J. Warrington, is excellent in a most ungrateful role.

Best of all is Mr. Ben Field, as an eccentric millionaire.

LIVERPOOL'S WOMAN

LORD MAYOR.

UNMARRIED "NOT FOR THE WANT OF ASKING."

LIVERPOOL.

Miss Margaret Beavan, the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, who advised young women embarking to Australia to become domestic servants "get married," laughed heartily as she declined to disclose the secret as to why she had remained a spinster. But she gave the only answer, and womanly reply that "it was not for the want of asking."

USE OF STEEL IN BUILDINGS.

ITS AESTHETIC VALUE RECOGNISED.

A PROFESSOR'S VIEW.

One by one we are shedding Victorian prejudices and shams. The latest of such to go, or at least to show a tendency to disappear, is the idea that buildings and other structures made of steel must be covered up at all costs by other material.

In its place has come a new regard for steel as a material that is worthy in itself. It is instanced in the case of the new Lambeth Bridge.

This revolution in outlook should do much towards giving an impetus to the steel industry of this country. It would do much more if the various by-laws were not antagonistic to the use of naked steel in buildings.

This point was emphasised by Mr. A. E. Richardson, Professor of Architecture at University College, London.

"In Paris," he said, "they have steel buildings with the steel exposed, and there is no reason why we should not have them here except that we are governed by by-laws. In England we build solidly round the steel. We are ashamed of our skeleton."

He pointed out that steel, used legitimately, possessed its own aesthetic value.

"One of the finest steel buildings on view," he added, "is the vault of St. Pancras Station. People fail to realise it, but it is one of the sights of London. I always take foreign architects to see it."

Lambeth Bridge.

Referring to the new Lambeth Bridge, he said: "The great point in favour of steel is that it can be used expeditiously, and in its effects for large bridges it is more graceful than reinforced concrete. The classic example of course, is the Alexandre III. Bridge in Paris."

"The use of steel, when it is not plastered with a false veneer of stone or bedizened with meaningless ornament, explains itself. The segment of its arches has become traditional, and these lines of steel can be made very telling. They are a frank, modern expression, there is no mystery, and the spectator is eminently satisfied."

"A lot of water has flowed under the bridges since Ruskin condemned steel. What he was really hitting at was the use of mock Gothic in cast iron, but, unfortunately, he condemned steel too. He was afraid of the present day."

"In fact," he added, "steel as a material for bridges offers great scope for the designer, and there is no reason why, as in the instance of the new Lambeth Bridge, which from its design will obviously harmonise with the old Palace, the Houses of Parliament, and the beauty of the long view up the river, a modern structure should not lie restfully alongside the old."

COST OF MEAT WAR.

A loss of £112,738 is announced in the Smithfield and Argentine Meat Company's report for 1927. This loss is attributed to "the long-drawn-out fight" between the companies engaged in the Argentine meat trade, which did not settle their differences until November last year.

There was a loss of £137,982 for 1928, but at the end of 1928 there was still a credit balance to carry forward, and the net debit balance at the end of 1927 was £19,133. Against this there are reserves amounting to £304,004.

Armistice Day.

Armistice Day was observed with befitting reverence this year and there seems no fear of this great commemoration being discontinued. The Cathedral and other religious services were as well attended as ever and big crowds assembled for the ceremonial at the Cenotaph. Only one word of criticism can be offered—this part of the memorial functions was too protracted. For troops and public alike it became something of an ordeal, for a November sun retains plenty of strength in this Colony. Celebrations that are an ordeal do not survive. The oldest annual festivals in England, apart from those of a religious nature, are Guy Fawkes day (which Armistice Day is replacing) and May Day which is enjoying a remarkable revival in rural England. Both these celebrations are of a popular and enjoyable nature; they are not sternly official. This has been overlooked by those who favour the abolition of the Victory Ball, one of the great and spontaneous expressions of joy on the original Armistice Day.

It is more than time, by the way, that the Armistice Day wreaths should be removed from the foot of the Cenotaph.

American-Asiatic Marriage.

There is a certain American in this Colony who is worrying over the problem of how to get his Chinese wife into the United States. He came out here about twenty-five years ago, and married a Chinese girl who has been a most devoted wife and mother.

The man has now to return to the United States to settle down there, and naturally enough wants his wife and children to go with him. But can he do so? Emphatically not, because by virtue of a recent act passed in the United States of America, the situation is this. If an American marries a Chinese or Japanese woman the children are recognised as American citizens and are entitled to all rights and privileges of American citizens. Then what about the mother, one would ask? The wife remains an alien and is not eligible for admission into the United States. She can go there as tourist or student but is not granted permanent residence. If the husband desires to return to the United States permanently, he has to leave his wife behind, and the children their mother. It is not our place to criticise this law—the less British and American people criticise each other the better—but it is as well that Americans and Asiatic peoples, alike, should realise the position.

Wanchai Children.

Children of the working class people who reside in Wanchai are not likely to have a play ground, judging from the reply which the Head of the Sanitary Department gave to Mr. Braga's question last Tuesday. The excuse is that the Government has no available land for the purpose.

This is, indeed, a pity for Wanchai is a smoky and congested area, and the children who live there hardly get their full share of fresh air and sunshine. As to no ground being available, one may ask what the Government intend to do with the piece of land opposite the Dragon Garage at Wong Nei Cheong? It would make an ideal children's pleasure ground.

If that portion of land is not available, then there is Morrison Hill? Surely the projected Queen's College site will not take up the whole of the hill. There is also the plot of land at the western end of the Polo ground. It is too small for a football field and as far as one can see, it has been turned into a sleeping ground for mafiosos. So why not let the children have it? Ground is extraordinarily valuable in Hong Kong and in Kowloon, just as it is in London, but London keeps its open spaces.

Chicken Thieves.

Eating chickens with grains of rice is an old pastime which, with the present rising prices of poultry, is now quite profitable. These thieves operate in lovely backyards and the suspicious of the chance passer-by are seldom aroused by the tender "coos" with which the offenders lure the birds. Seven days' imprisonment in a recent case was very fitting punishment for a "feather angel".

In the annals of the Police Court chicken thieves have gained doubtful fame for ready and ingenious excuses. A case is recalled at the Kowloon Magistracy where a number of men were brought up on a charge of stealing a chicken, the evidence being that the bird was caught after a chase. One of the accused thought that if he claimed the running powers of a Nurm the Magistracy might be disposed to award him with his liberty. So with a smile he said:

"I am a runner of the Nurm and the bird and I also found in my house and sought shelter in my basket!"

ROUND THE POLICE COURTS.

THEFT FROM "PAMELA SHOP."

CHINESE TAILOR SENT TO PRISON.

A Chinese was before Major C. Wilson at the Central Magistracy yesterday for the theft of two pairs of curtains and several coat hangers from "Pamela's," the well known ladies' clothes shop in Queen's Road Central. The defendant was arrested during a raid by the police for arms at No. 73, Queen's Road Central.

Madame Louise La Masqu appeared in Court and said that until Sunday last the defendant was employed as a tailor in her shop. She identified the articles produced as the property of the shop.

She recalled the defendant had asked her if the curtains were any good, when the shop was moved to the present address at No. 17, Queen's Road Central. She had replied that even if they were not she had no authority from the proprietress to give them away.

The defendant said that he took the curtains away with the consent of Madame La Masqu, it being understood that they were to be taken to the laundry. As for the coat hangers, they belonged to Madame Sarraut by whom he was employed at one time.

The prosecution proved two previous convictions for theft from a similar shop.

A sentence of one month's hard labour was imposed.

SHIP'S COOK PUTS UP STRONG FIGHT

A Chinese cook employed on the s.s. Sui An was before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday for possession of small quantities of opium. It was stated that the prisoner put up a strong fight when arrested, and that he took six men to overpower him.

Previous convictions for dealing in lottery tickets were handed to the defendant was an old offender. The prisoner replied that it was ten years ago that he was last before the Court.

His Worship: That may be so, but it shows you have been in the game before. $2,500 or eight months.

A THIEF ARRESTED WITHIN A MAGISTRACY.

Returning to his quarters after a day's leave, a Chinese sergeant found that the blanket from his bed was missing. He made enquiries, and was informed by the cook that an odd job carpenter was seen to leave the Police Station with a bundle under his arm. The carpenter in question was found in the ground floor of the Kowloon Magistracy repairing a box. Challenged, the man denied all knowledge of the blanket, but subsequently took a Chinese detective to a pawn shop where he confessed to having stolen it.

He was sentenced to three weeks' hard labour by Mr. E. J. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday morning.

WHERE IS MY WIFE?

SEVEN FRANTIC HUSBANDS AT SHAMSHUIPO.

"Where is my wife," is the question asked by seven unhappy husbands living in Shamshuiipo. The wives of these men, all unknown to each other have disappeared within the last twenty-four hours.

The Shamshuiipo Police Station was invaded by the distracted husbands yesterday who demanded the aid of the law to trace their wives. Beyond circulating a description of the missing women, the police is unable to do anything.

I bent the others and caught the bird first!"

In another case from the No. 2 Police Station, the charge was possession of a chicken suspected to have been unlawfully obtained and which the man was seen to carry in a basket. The Magistracy was not convinced with the accused's explanation which was to this effect: "I was running along Fraya East with the basket under my arm. There was a strong breeze. Suddenly the bird flew from the basket and landed in my house and sought shelter in my basket!"

ALL THE FUN O' THE FAIR.

ATTRACTIONS INNUMERABLE AT LEE GARDENS.

For months past a host of kind ladies in Hong Kong, representing every social group on the Island and at Kowloon, have been working—and working incessantly—to make of the Fun-o'-the-Fair, which is to be held within the Lee Gardens this afternoon, a prodigious success. All good luck to the self-denying efforts of the promoters and their large band of willing and cheerful helpers, since the most deserving charities at home and in the Colony are going to benefit by the proceeds of the Fair which has been organised and is carried out on a gigantic scale.

The generous people of Hong Kong—Chinese and non-Chinese alike—will not be true to their best traditions if they fail to visit and patronise the Fair on a scale that is generally expected of them. For the thought, time, labour and expense exerted in organising and producing the Fair have been spent in a lavish manner and it remains for the community at large to prove that the efforts put forth in the cause of charity will not have been put forth in vain.

Lads And Lasses Roll Up.

Will the lads and lasses resist the appeal from the Hong Kong Women's Guild and Ministering Children's League to roll up to Lee Gardens this afternoon? We hardly think so. And will the kindly-hearted men and women of Hong Kong and Kowloon refuse to show their appreciation of the combined efforts of all classes in the Colony to raise the maximum sum to aid charitable associations sorely in need of help? We should be wide of our estimate of the generosity of the Community if we could but imagine that the Guild's and the League's appeal for one and all to "roll up" should fall on deaf ears.

No more delightful afternoon can be spent by the kiddies than a visit to Lee Gardens this afternoon. For the little 'uns there are attractions innumerable. If only to mention one item alone from a long programme of all sorts of amusements for the children, donkey rides will give enjoyment beyond measure to the boys and girls. The tiny tots need have no fear of a "spill" for Dr. Crosby and men of H.M. Ships in port have charge of this section of the Fair. The children's dancing display will be as popular as ever.

For the ladies, too, the Committee have provided a tempting feature in a flower pot competition that will out rival the best efforts of the Horticultural Society or the New Territories Agricultural Show Committee. Exhibitors should enter the competition when they can best realise its real value.

Ever thoughtful of men, the Women's Guild, through the Naval Branch in Hong Kong, has provided a shooting gallery, presided over by Major Quinlan, men of the Royal Marines and of the destroyer Brusard. The gallery will afford an excellent opportunity for local marksmen. Men of the Volunteer Defence Force and of the Special Police will have a splendid chance to display their prowess in rifle shooting.

Luna Park In Hong Kong.

Unlike the Luna Park at Shanghai, the ground laid out by Mr. and Mrs. Remington and helpers in Lee Gardens will not mean an expense of money without any commensurate gain. Greyhounds will not be seen pursuing an illusory quarry, but for every ten cents spent Mr. Remington and his troop promise return in pleasure worth many times more. The aerial railway, roulette, football and punch-ball, to mention a few of the many attractions, are sure to draw hundreds of patrons to Luna Park. It must be visited to be appreciated.

Billiard Competition.

Much has been heard of the "Snooker Match" just starting at Kowloon. Mr. Treagar, K.O.S.B., has organised a billiard competition at the Fair. An inter-Club match this evening at the Fair should be productive of healthy rivalry among the champion exults of the various clubs in the Colony.

Fortunes Told.

For the first time in the history of the annual Fair that is gaining in popularity every year, the Women's Guild has searched all countries and all climes for the best exponents in the art of divination. The Guild is happy in the fact of being able to announce that from the Sunny South they have engaged the services of Madame Caracenia, while from mystic India Madame Swami has travelled all the way to Hong Kong to give the benefit of their occult powers to local residents. For a small remuneration any resident, desiring to know the winning number of the Cash Sweeps at the race meeting on the 1st December, or what number to buy in the big Champion Sweeps of the Chinese Club or the Club Lusitano, can obtain the unerring advice of these two ladies, who claim to be without an equal in palmistry, clairvoyance and fortune-telling.

Dancing In The Evening.

Mr. A. L. Shields and his Committee will be in charge of the dancing floor which will be open from 8.30 p.m. to midnight. No better music can be hoped for than that provided by the Hong Kong Hotel Band. Light refreshments may be obtained throughout the evening. The dancing will be catered for by the Chinese restaurant under the Lee Garden Management.

STABBING INCIDENT ON TROOPSHIP.

CHARGE AGAINST K.O.S.B. PRIVATE.

MONEYLENDING ALLEGATIONS.

"HOUSEY" AND "CROWN AND ANCHOR."

No fewer than twelve men belonging to the 1st Battalion the Norfolk Regiment and a draft of the 2nd Battalion King Own Scottish Borderers gave evidence before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday of the stabbing affray on board the transport Somerethshire on the high seas between Aden and Colombo. Sergeant A. Kerr, K.O.S.B., the wounded man, was landed in Colombo for treatment in hospital, and his alleged assailant, Private James Boyle, of the same unit, was handed over to the Hong Kong Police on the arrival of the troopship here. It was alleged that the victim was an "unofficial money-lender" and also ran a "housey" and Crown and Anchor gambling concern.

Private Boyle was charged with the attempted murder of Sergeant Kerr by stabbing him with a knife at about 1 a.m. on October 20th. An alternative charge of maliciously wounding was added by Mr. E. Somerset Fitzroy, Assistant Attorney-General, who prosecuted for the Crown. Prisoner was not legally represented.

According to the prosecution, Sergeant Kerr was stabbed with a carving knife while he was asleep on deck. Private Boyle who was sleeping near the wounded man also received a cut in the arm.

Sentry's Evidence.

Private A. E. Evison, 2nd Bn. The Norfolk Regiment, stated in evidence that he was on sentry duty on the main deck and Sergeant Kerr was sleeping about 100 yards away from his post. Witness saw the defendant crawl out between the mess tables and run towards the hatchway where the Sergeant was sleeping. The witness did not notice if Boyle had any weapon in his hand. He lost sight of the defendant for a while, and the next thing he heard was the sound of a blow being struck. He also heard the defendant using the words, "I have been waiting for you long enough."

On going forward witness saw Private James, of the Norfolk Regiment, "knock a man off" Sergeant Kerr, who was lying with the defendant on top of him. Sergeant Kerr, the witness saw, had a terrible gash in his stomach. The defendant, who seemed in a great state of excitement, was taken to the ship's guard room.

Private A. W. Impey, another sentry, gave evidence of seeing the defendant crawling out from under a mess table and later he saw through the hatch rails a struggle going on between two or three persons. Pressed by Mr. Fitzroy, witness said it was a "rough and tumble." Answering questions, witness said there was a wet canteen on board, but he was unable to say if anybody had been drinking freely the night before. He thought that the night on which the incident occurred was a Friday.

"Put Him In Gaol."

Private E. James, also of the Norfolk Regiment, said that he was roused from sleep by sounds of a struggle at about 1 a.m. As he approached the spot Sergeant Kerr shouted, "Sergeant, get this man from me and put him in gaol. The defendant refused to get up and witness had to deal several blows with his fist to make Boyle stand up on his feet. When witness looked round Sergeant Kerr had disappeared. The defendant after he had cooled down began to argue with another Sergeant.

Continuing, witness said that the defendant appeared to be quite sober, and went with him to the detention cell. There was no weapon to be seen at the time. Witness's bed and the deck were covered with blood.

Blood And Bad Language.

Private Bye, who was sleeping between Sergeant Kerr and Private James, said that he was awakened by a struggle and a cut on his left arm. Witness Private James and he did not know what happened. He heard the defendant use bad language and there was a lot of blood over the bed. At the ship's hospital where defendant went to have his wound dressed, he saw a carving knife brought in.

Sergeant C. H. Jones, of the Norfolk Regiment, also gave evidence of hearing foul language and threats to Sergeant Kerr. Witness found Kerr with his arms across his chest and blood streaming over a pair of pants he was wearing.

Major Flood's Medical Evidence.

In the afternoon Major F. G. Flood, R.A.M.C., said that he was on board the Somerethshire when Sergeant Kerr was brought to the ship's hospital. Witness found Kerr to be suffering from collapse and severe hemorrhage. There was a cut one and a half inches long on the right side of the chest, a wound which could have been inflicted by a stabbing blow with the carving knife produced in Court. The knife was brought to witness at the time covered with fresh blood. At the time witness asked the Senior Medical Officer there, Lieut. Col. Styles, R.A.M.C., for the charge of the injured man who was taken ashore.

Private Pye was treated for a flesh wound in the upper arm. The defendant, continued witness, was also brought to the hospital and he had two cuts on the scalp and two incised wounds on the left upper arm, both trivial, though one required two stitches. Witness thought the defendant was sober, but he appeared to be shaky.

The Knife Found.

Sergeant Ringer, 1st Norfolk, the next witness, said that he was roused from sleep on hearing somebody using foul language. The first thing witness saw was a knife lying on deck near his bed. It was wet with blood. Witness next saw a man coming up towards him in a doubled up position and his arms across his chest. Blood was dripping through his fingers. Witness went to the top deck to look for the Medical Officer and the injured man who was following collapsed on the deck. Later witness gave the knife to Sergeant Jones.

Locked In Cell.

Sergeant C. R. Moore, 1st Norfolk, stated that he was acting as Provost Sergeant at the time of the incident. The defendant was brought to him at about 1.10 a.m. by Private James of his battalion and he put him in a cell. Defendant was covered with blood. Witness went to the main deck to investigate and was handed a knife with fresh blood stains. Prisoner was taken to hospital for treatment and locked in the cell again under guard until the vessel arrived in Hong Kong. In answer to a question, witness said that the defendant was quite sober when he was first brought to him. He said nothing.

Moneylending, "Housey" And "Crown And Anchor."

Four witnesses from the same draft as the accused were questioned by the latter and it was alleged that Sergeant Kerr acted as a moneylender on board and also ran a "housey" and "Crown and Anchor" gambling concern.

Private Saxby, K.O.S.B., mess orderly on the vessel, recognised the knife produced in Court as one belonging to the mess "which was found to be missing on the afternoon of October 19th. Witness knew the accused and also Sergeant Kerr, but he was not aware of any trouble between them.

In answer to the prisoner, witness said he knew Sergeant Kerr to be a moneylender, as he had borrowed five shillings from him. He paid one shilling interest on that sum for one week.

Witness said that there was also quite a lot of gambling among the draft on the way out, chiefly "Housey" and "Crown and Anchor."

Mr. Lindsell: Did anybody particularly win or lose a lot?—I cannot say.

Sing Song And Three Pints.

Private Lunn testified to being in the company of the defendant together with Private Kelly that evening. There was a sing-song on deck and they had some drinks. Defendant had about three pints of beer and was sober when he turned in.

Questioned by defendant, Lunn said that Kerr owned an "Anchor" board and gave it to the defendant on condition that for every pound won the defendant would receive five shillings. "Crown and Anchor" was not permitted, but the arrangement was that if the defendant was caught using it Kerr would square up matters.

50 Per Cent. Interest A Week! Continuing, witness said that Kerr was also a money-lender. He charged 50 per cent. interest (5d. to a shilling) for one week.

In answer to Mr. Lindsell, witness said he did not hear of the accused being in debt to Sergeant Kerr. To his knowledge there had also been no dispute regarding the "Crown and Anchor" board.

Private Kelly stated in evidence that he knew both the defendant and Sergeant Kerr since he joined up sixteen months ago. He was not aware of any dispute between them during that time. Replying to defendant's questions, witness said that it was rumoured on board that Sergeant Kerr lent money, but he was not aware of anybody who borrowed from him. Further he was not aware that Sergeant Kelly had a "Housey" or "Anchor" board. (Continued on next column.)

CHANGES IN CANTON GOVERNMENT.

A HIVE OF RUMOURS.

LI TSAI HSIN RETURNING AT LAST.

TO STAY IN SOUTH?

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, Nov. 16th. The latest report from Nanking states that Marshal Li Tsai Hsin left the capital of the 16th of this month for Shanghai on his way back to Canton. The message adds that the Marshal and his party, including his chief secretary Tang Chia Yin, General Chen Ming Shu and other Canton notables, will leave Shanghai to-morrow (Saturday) for Hong Kong on board the French liner Paul Lecat, expecting to arrive in Hong Kong next Tuesday.

Upon learning of the definite return of their leader, Mr. Fung Man, Commissioner of Finance, General Tang Shih Tang, Garrison Commander and Police Commissioner of Canton, General Hsu King Tong, Commander of the 6th Army, Admiral Chen Chak, and other high members of the Canton regime, are preparing to go to Hong Kong to-morrow or the next day to welcome the Marshal and his party.

Mr. Chow Lu, a former high official of the Canton Government who was driven out of China as a result of his stern opposition to the Communists, left for Nanking via Hong Kong early yesterday morning on board the s.s. Kinsman. Mr. Chow said that he had to go to the capital, as he wanted to confer with the Nationalist Government on matters of vital importance to group of his close friends and former official colleagues saw him off.

There is a rumour in Canton about a possible change in the Provincial and Municipal Governments. It is said that Fan Chi Wu, a close adherent of General Chen Ming Shu, Wu I Shang, a brother of Wu Han Min, An Yang Chu and General Hsu King Tong will take the posts of Commissioner of Civil Affairs, Mayor of Canton, Police Commissioner, and Garrison Commander, respectively. Everything is extraordinarily uncertain and it is not really known whether or not there will be any change at all. Canton politics are hard to follow and unravel. This much is certain, however, Marshal Li will continue to be the supreme head of the Leung Kwang Provinces, unless Nanking persuades him to remain in the capital. It is further reported that the Headquarters of the 8th Military Route, of which Marshal Li is the director-in-chief, will upon the return of the Marshal, be reorganized into a Leung Kwang Military Headquarters in accordance with an order from Nanking. Marshal Li will continue to be the chief after the reorganization, while General Wong Shu Hung will become the vice chief.

Defendant: Did I tell you that I have a "Crown and Anchor" board which I got from Sergeant Kerr?—No.

Had Four Mugs, But Sober.

In answer to Mr. Lindsell, witness said there was a sing-song on board and the defendant had about "four mugs," but he was sober.

Private Andrews, the last witness, denied he was aware that Sergeant Kelly lent money on interest. He said that Sergeant Kerr used to lead witness and others a "Lotto Housey" set to round. Kerr got the winnings and paid what he thought fit to those running it. The commission would be about five shillings in the pound. Kerr also had a "Crown and Anchor" board which he ran himself. A proposal was made to witness and three others to run it, but nobody took it on. The terms were the same as in the case of the "Lotto" set.

A Risky Undertaking. Answering the defendant, witness made the naive statement that "if one of us were caught that was our own affair and Kerr would keep out of it."

A sketch plan of a portion of the troop deck was produced by Q.M.S. Scott, R.E., who was also on board the vessel at the time. Inspector Lane, giving evidence of defendant's transfer from a military escort to the police, said that he duly cautioned him and charged him with attempted murder. Witness produced a formal statement containing the word "no" in answer to the charge.

Remanded For One Week.

His Worship said that he was prepared to give remands from week to week for a period of three weeks until the arrival of Sergeant Kerr from Singapore. Mr. Fitzroy agreed to arrange with the military authorities for the early despatch of the Sergeant by an ordinary boat so as to avoid delay in taking the case to the higher Court. A formal remand for one week was accordingly granted.

JUDGMENT FOR MONEY-LENDER.

DEFENDANT SHIELDING BEHIND A DEFUNCT FIRM.

USUAL TO GRANT INSTALLMENTS.

Judgment was delivered by Mr. Justice P. Jackson at the Summary Court yesterday afternoon in the case in which Karnail Singh, registered money-lender, sued Ng Wai for the recovery of $540 being money lent under a promissory note.

When the case was heard on October 25th, the defence raised two points for his Lordship to consider. First it was stated that the money was not lent to the defendant personally but to the Chong Tai Lumber firm. Secondly that as the transaction did not take place at plaintiff's registered address, it was therefore void.

In his judgment, his Lordship dealt with these two points at length, and arrived at the conclusion that the money was lent to defendant personally and that the transaction took place at plaintiff's registered address.

THE JUDGMENT.

The judgment reads as follows: "The plaintiff in this action is a money lender who seeks to recover from the defendant the sum of $540 being principal and interest due on a promissory note which the defendant has admitted he signed."

The defence is: First, that the defendant did not borrow the money himself, but signed the promissory note on behalf of the firm which employed him. Secondly, that the transaction was not carried out at the money lender's registered address and is therefore void.

The evidence given in the case is conflicting on both points raised by the defence.

With regard to the first point, the plaintiff says he lent the money to the defendant personally, that the defendant was the master of the Chong Tai firm and that he knew of no else in the firm. The defendant says that he was only a salesman in the Chong Tai firm and that he borrowed the money for and on behalf of his employers. He called Ng Hung who was described as the manager of the firm to corroborate his statement. He could not call any of the partners of the firm as the only one he knew, one Mok Hung, had left the Colony and the firm no longer carries on business.

Not Satisfied With Defence.

I am not satisfied with the defence on this point. I cannot believe that the plaintiff would have been satisfied with the signature of a mere employee—a salesman—had he been lending money to the firm. There was no evidence that Mok Hung, the alleged master, had any communication with the plaintiff, nor is there any evidence that the manager of the firm who said he was present when the money was paid over and who said he chopped the promissory note ever said who he was or who the master was, or explained what position the defendant held in the firm.

I believe he lent to the defendant personally in the belief that he was the master or the proprietor of the business. I cannot help feeling that the defendant is merely trying to shield himself behind a defunct firm. Had the firm been still in existence and the plaintiff had sued them on this note, I do not believe they would have considered themselves bound by a promissory note signed by one of their subordinates, even though it did bear their chop, neither could I hold a firm liable on the signature of a subordinate unless it could be proved that he had authority to bind his principals in this way.

Carried Out According To Law.

I now come to the second point raised in the defence, namely that the transaction was not carried out at the plaintiff's registered address. I see no more reason to believe what the witness for the defence says with regard to this than I did on the first point. Until it is proved otherwise, I must presume that this transaction was carried out according to law. The defendant has called another witness, with regard to this, namely, Kartar Singh, who admittedly wrote the note for the plaintiff. The plaintiff says that note was written in his quarters but Kartar Singh says he wrote it at the defendant's place, but his evidence is not evidence on which I feel constrained to overrule the presumption that the transaction was carried out according to law.

On the evidence put before me I find that the defendant is liable on the note which he has admitted he signed, and I do not consider that there are sufficient grounds for ruling that the transaction did not take place at the registered address of the plaintiff.

Having arrived at these conclusions on the facts, it is unnecessary for me to consider the legal points which were put before me. I therefore give judgment for the plaintiff with costs.

Mr. Russ: Will your Lordship put this in Chambers to-morrow to take it in Chambers to-morrow. (Continued at foot of next column.)

CORRESPONDENCE.

POLICE REGULATIONS AND MOTOR-CARS.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR,—I have been constantly annoyed, as must a great number of other people, by public cars parked in Chater Road constantly backing and filling across the street. Until a few days ago I wondered why the Police did not stop this practice, but on reading a report which appeared in the papers recently I was astonished to learn that a Police Regulation was actually responsible, and that if one car vacated its place at the end of the rank all the other cars were required to move up one place. This might be quite right if the cars were parked end to end but when parked, as in Chater Road, diagonally across the street this procedure appears to be more than absurd.

At 2.30 p.m. this afternoon there were 32 cars in the rank when the second car moved off with a face. Immediately the next 8 cars commenced to manoeuvre, in order to move up one place, with the result that both sides of the street were entirely blocked for the space of over two minutes, while three or four cars wishing to pass along the road kept up a continuous hooting. If the remaining 22 cars in the rank had actually shifted position the operation would have taken about 10 minutes during which time all traffic would be suspended. In this what the Police desire?

Yours faithfully, P. P.

Carvalho Yeo, who is alleged to have defrauded the Hong Treasury of a sum of about $200,000 will come before the Acting Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice P. Jackson, on Tuesday.

consider the question of instalments?

Mr. Strellett: I really do not know, my Lord. I haven't consulted my client in regard to this point.

His Lordship: The claim is for money lent and it is usual to grant instalments when applied for. I will take it in Chambers to-morrow.

THE CRITICS OF CAPTAIN

solution of many of the everyday problems which have to be dealt with by the sailor. In calculating his position on the high seas at a ranging the trim of his ship—in a hundred different ways arithmetic will give the sailor the information he needs for safe navigation.There are times and occasions, how-

and mathematics all fail to give the sailor absolute confidence in the solving of his doubts. Becausea ship carrying 200 passengers and

DISPENSARIES.It is not to be expected that men and women who have gone through such a terrible ordeal, and are suffering from the effects of shock and exposure, can give either an accurate or coherent account of what actually happened. Passengers are never in a position to know all the facts when a ship is in distress. If the trouble starts during bad weather, none but experienced men in possession of all the facts are competent to judge
whether the ship was properly handled, or whether everything possible was done for the safety of those on board. When the official inquiry is held into the loss of the Ventria, we may learn more of the actual circumstances than are so far available.Meanwhile, it is not only charitable but just to assume that a man of Captain CAREY's experience as a seaman did what he considered best for the safety of all hands. Being human, it is of course possible that he blundered
—that he gave some order too late,
or neglected to give an order which should have been given, but the persons competent to decide this point are not passengers over-wrought by exhaustion and excitement as a result of their terrible experience. While sympathising with them in their misfortunes, let us also remember the dilemma in which the master of the Ventria
found himself—to remain with all hands on a sinking ship in the hope of rescue coming before the final plunge; or to take to the boats and risk their capsizing as soon as they were lowered—such as could be lowered. No man comfortably seated in an armchair—whether it be in an editor's room or a cosy club—should dare condemn Captain CAREY on the facts so far known concerning the loss of the Ventria.There is always difficulty in lowering boats in a howling gale.
It is not necessarily a "faultry tackle" which prevents operations working as smoothly as during boat-drill. Frequently it is impossible to lower any boats on one side, owing either to a heavy list or big seas. Such boats as can be lowered may be capsized by waves
or by a rush of panic-stricken people. These simple facts should be known to and remembered by those who write sensational stories for newspaper readers. It would not be necessary then for master mariners to protest against such statements as have been published in the American Press. We hope and believe that when the inquiry into the loss of the Ventria is held,
it will be found that Captain CAREY did all that any seaman possibly could do, and then—like so many other brave men before him—went down with his ship with his spirit unbroken.St. George's Ball will be held on Friday, January 4th, in the City
Hall.Five more cases of small-pox, all Chinese were reported on Thursday

4, Tit Hong Lane, has reported to the police that an accountant has also been with $1,824.Silk forwarded from here by the Empress of Russia on October 24th arrived in New York (St. John's Park) on November 14th, having been 21 days in transit.The following films are being shown for the last time today at the local cinemas—"A Certain Young Man," featuring Ramon Novarro, at the Queen's; "Rough House Rosie," with Clara Bow, at the World; and "Matinee Ladies," starring May McAvoy, at the Star.A Chinese woman was run down by a fire engine early yesterday morning in Des Voeux Road Central. She was taken to the Government Civil Hospital where it was found that it would be necessary to amputate one of her legs.
The operation was performed and the woman is in a serious condition.A young servant girl picked up in London the other day a lady's hand-bag containing a quantity of currency notes and some apparently valuable jewellery. There was also a lady's name and address, to which the girl took the bag. The lady made the girl wait first while she telephoned somewhere to announce the recovery of the bag, and then while she counted the notes. Having satisfied herself that the contents of the bag were intact, she offered the girl a reward of three pence. As the girl had undertaken
a twopenny bus ride, and required
nothing to get home, she not unnaturally refused this generous offer. Her master subsequently wrote to the lady, suggesting that the girl deserved some reward, to which the lady replied that a reward had already been offered and refused. The appropriate measure of a reward for an act of honesty is a matter difficult to decide; but the lady who offers a few coppers—
insufficient to cover out-of-pocket expenses, to say nothing of time and trouble for the recovery of property worth something like $100
may be congratulated on having pretty nearly secured the minimum in the direction of mean-lifebelts and with boats certified as able to carry 275 persons, it does not follow as an arithmetical certainty that in the event of disaster at sea, all hands will be able to get away in safety. Every sailor knows this, but many of his armchair critics seem to be crassly ignorant of the fact.The sinking of the Ventria, with the loss of considerably more than a hundred lives, has led to the usual sensational charges against the master of the vessel, but in the public presentation of allegations of this character considerable discretion should be exercised. We know nothing about Captain Carey beyond the fact that he has been for thirty years in the employ of one of the largest shipping companies in Great Britain. This single fact, however, is evidence of very great weight in estimating the probabilities of the case.A man who has been at sea for about forty years, and has been with one company for three quarters of that time, is not likely to be either ignorant or neglectful of his duties and responsibilities as the master of a ship. Captain CAREY was Commodore-elect of the Lampport and Holt fleet, and, had the Ventria completed her voyage safely, would have left that ship
and taken command of the company's "flagship." This, then, is the man whose conduct in a terrible crisis has been the subject of bitter accusations—so cruel that the Honourable Company of Master Mariners has been moved to make emphatic protest against the statements published in the American Press."THE SPORT OF KINGS."

ANOTHER A.D.C. TRIUMPH.

APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE.

The Hong Kong A.D.C. have scored another triumph in "The Sport of Kings" which was given before a full house last night in the Theatre Royal. Ian Hay's sporting play is a good one for amateurs because it requires a large cast of people, who, while not being supers still do not have a great deal required of them.There are only three big parts, those of Amos Purdie, Bates, and Algy Sprigg, which roles are most ably filled by Messrs. Hannibal, C. P.
Marcel, and G. G. Stopani-Thomson.But perhaps one of the most striking characterisations, although she had a comparatively small part,
was that of Lucy Greensmith as Mrs. Purdie. "Mrs. Purdie" is well known in private life as a most capable lady but she gave on the stage last night the most perfect representation of the down trodden rabbit, and her every appearance was a delight.Margaret Chubb as the strong minded secretary Dulcie Primrose, was also very good, although she might perhaps have allowed Dulcie
to be a rather more sympathetic character and melted a little more before the ardent wooing of Mr.
Stopani-Thomson's Algie.

Capable Players.

Every member of the large caste
was good and deserves special mention. Billie Bond as the capable matter-of-fact lady of the bar, Master Ian Black as a cheeky little newsboy, and the three domestic servants, Gracie Syme Thompson,
Kathleen Robertson, and Judie Marcel. None of these three had more than a few words to say, and a brief appearance on the stage,
but each lady made her mark and will be separately remembered.Katie, the enfant terrible of the Purdie household, was played in a lively and charming fashion by Evelyn Hammond, and her brother brother Joe by Mr. P. Sands. Both of them were as comical and terrible as their parts demanded, and the introduction of these youthful characters does much to lighten
the play. Mr. J. N. Owen was very good too, as the boot boy
Albert who helped the young people in their experiments on the turf.Mr. R. H. Charles made a jovial and breezy bookmaker while Mr.
A. H. White was a most impressive sergent.Sir Reginald Toothill was played by Mr. O. C. Warner, the part is, of course, little but an echo of that of Algy, but Mr. Warner who was a particularly amusing in the prologue managed to instil a good deal of quiet humour into his role.The three parts on which the whole success of the play depends are, of course, those of Mr. Purdie
the pious nouveau riche, very much master in his own house, his butler Bates, and Algie Sprigg, who coming as a paying guest into that Christian household, turned Mr.
Purdie first into a punter and last into a bookie.Mr. Purdie was delightful from his first appearance. He was admirably made up for the part, he never raised his voice and yet none of his words were lost. Mr. Hannibal made of him a most lovable old hypocrite, lovable even when he refused to communicate with his wife except by chit, and always human. His degeneration, or regeneration, according to how you choose to take it, was so gradual and so consistent that it never seemed unnatural. Mr. Hannibal will find it hard to do better than his Amos Purdie.Then there is Bates, another hypocrite, whose fall from apparent grace comes with dramatic suddenness. Mr. Marcel has studied butlers for Bates was no stage convention but a very real person, and always interesting to watch.Algy Sprigg, the "mephisto" of the piece, was in Mr. Stopani-Thomson's hands just what he should have been, self-confident,
cheery, and a little unscrupulous,
in fact the hero who badly needs
reforming and whom every lady loves.

An Excellent Production.

"The Sports of Kings" is an excellent production in every way and should go even better on the second night. We can always trust the A.D.C. to give us a thoroughly enjoyable evening and that they have done so this season was proved by the continuous applause last night.By permission of Capt. G. Hopp-wood, C.B.E., R.N., and officers,
the band of H.M.S. Hermes played during the performance, while Miss V. Capell was responsible for organising that charming band of Programme Jockeys, the Misses P.
Capell, E. Ford and A. Steel.

and he had been with the firm for

of six with whom the deepest symfeature of Mr. Coleman's death is that Mrs. Coleman is herself under-

The local agents of the s.s.
Tango Maru which is aground off Thursday Island state that the vessel has not been refloated.
However, all passengers and a great deal of the cargo has been transferred to attending vessels.
A naval vessel from Australia is said to be standing by.As regards refloating operations, we are informed that unfavourable
tides will make the task difficult.
The local agents are awaiting instructions from the head office in Japan before despatching a salvage tug from this port, as it is possible that one of the Company's tugboats will be sent direct from Japan, or from Sydney.It appears that the vessel is firmly aground on the rocks off
one of the numerous small islands.

SQUEEZE!

EXPERTS OF THE WEST
RIVER LIKIN.

WHY PRICES ARE HIGH.

$2,300 TO PAY ON $4,000 WORTH OF FUEL.

CANTON, Nov. 16th.

A most amazing story of corruption and extortion on the part of the likin collecting officials of the Provincial Government was revealed when a dealer in fire wood laid his complaints to Mr. Fung Cho-Man, the Commissioner of Finance.
The merchant said that he had just brought down a big sampaan full of fire wood and 240 pieces of timber from Fung Tsoon, a mountainous district above Dosing. The fire wood did not weigh more than 450,000 catties, and the cost of the whole cargo was not more than $4,000. "And yet," he said with great indignation, "I had to pay more than $2,300 likin money
before I could get the cargo to Canton. This is sheer corruption and extortion by the likin collectors. I had the most trying time in getting through after payment of $2,300, for the likin collectors demanded much more."The merchant then went on to relate that when his cargo was passing through Dosing, the likin officers there demanded and obtained $37.60 from him as likin tax.When he reached Weng Kong, further down the West River, the likin officers there demanded $640. This the merchant refused to pay insisting that according to the regulations of the Government he should pay only $69 plus 73.5 per cent.
of that. But the likin farmers would not listen to reason and assumed a threatening attitude. They insisted upon their demand and said
"you shall not leave here for Canton unless you pay every cent of the $640." The merchant in the end paid up and the money, which is ten times in excess of what it should be, was paid in full. Then when the cargo arrived in Hou Lit, a point further down the West River,
the likin officers there demanded $768, which had to be paid, as argument was useless. The Government officers of this port taxed the merchant $380 plus 55.5 per cent. of that for his 240 pieces of timber, for which the likin collectors at Dosing charged only $40.When the merchant reached Ma
How, near Sham Shui, the likin
collectors there demanded $500 plus 55.5 per cent. of that. This the oppressed merchant again refused to pay. An acrimonious argument ensued and the Government officers
finally reduced the demand to $360 plus 55.5 per cent. a total of $590.The officers absolutely refused to lower the demand any further, and the merchant had to pay it. One of the worst aspects of the incident
at this port was that the inspectors would not give any receipts for which the explanation is not difficult. These extortions added together made the total up to $2,300.The fire wood dealers in Canton said that this is the real cause of the exorbitant high price for fuel.
Unless the Government takes immediate steps to remedy these conditions, dealers in fire wood are likely to leave Canton without fuel. Mr. Fung, the Finance Commissioner, said that he would see about the matter.

WEATHER REPORT.

Yesterday's weather report, forecast and remarks, issued by the Royal Observatory at 6.05 p.m., stated:—

JAPAN'S ATTITUDE
TO CHINA.

NECESSITY OF SAVING FACE.

BOYCOTT RESENTED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Tokyo, Nov. 16th.

It is learned that an important meeting was held yesterday at Kyoto at which the Government reported that it had decided its future policy towards Nanking.

The crux of the situation appears to be the question of treaty revision, as apart from the necessity of both sides saving face, the Government, though desirous of opening formal negotiations as soon as possible, wishes first to ensure that once they are commenced there will be no deadlock. The Government is also anxious to avoid the possibility of becoming involved alone over the question of extraterritoriality.

It is believed that yesterday's meeting decided inter alia that the Government, before entering upon negotiations, should insist that the Nationalists restrain the anti-Japanese movement in Tientsin and Hankow.

Nanking's Sincerity.

It is reliably learned that the Government is shortly instructing Mr. Yada to proceed to Nanking to ascertain the sincerity of the Nationalists regarding the settlement of pending questions on the basis of past conversations.

If he is satisfied that they are sincere the Government will then initiate formal negotiations.

TSINAN INCIDENT.

[Wah Tze Fat Pao.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16th.

Dr. C. T. Wang told the delegation of Shantung provincials yesterday that the determined principle of the Nationalist Government was to demand the complete withdrawal of Japanese troops from Tsinan and the adjacent territories in dealing with the Tsinan affair. The Japanese Government was willing to do so and had actually reduced the present garrison in Shantung to 5,000. It was rumoured that the Nationalist Government had made concessions to Japan by the withdrawal of the former Note modifying the invalidity of the old Sino-Japanese treaty, as a condition of Japan's evacuation of Shantung, but such a rumour was entirely groundless.

CUSTOMS AUTONOMY.

[Wah Tze Fat Pao.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16th.

Dr. C. T. Wang has issued a statement to the effect that the full contents of the Agreement between China and Norway on Chinese Customs autonomy will be published next Monday. Negotiations with other nations including Great Britain, Holland, Italy, France, Belgium and Portugal are proceeding.

NORWEGIAN TREATY.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16th.

The Kuo Min states that it is learned from C. T. Wang, the Foreign Minister, that the new Norwegian treaty giving tariff autonomy to China was signed on November 13th by C. T. Wang and N. Aul, the Norwegian Charge d'Affaires. The text will be published on November 19th in Oslo and Nanking.

C. T. Wang added that negotiations for similar agreements are proceeding with the British, French, Belgian, Italian, Dutch and Portuguese representatives, and successful results are expected soon.

MILITARY CONFERENCE.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16th.

Chiang Kai Shek is issuing invitations to the commanders of the various military groups to an important military conference at Nanking on December 1st. He hopes to induce them to agree to the reorganization of all armies on national lines.

AUTOCRATIC POWER.

[Wah Tze Fat Pao.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16th.

Mrs. Liao Chung Kai, a leader of the Left Ching, has proposed that the Central Kuomintang, Nanking, should withdraw its previous resolution to appoint half of the number of Kuomintang delegates from all Kuomintang branches to attend the coming "Third National Conference" of Kuomintang Members. She declares that the appointment of local Kuomintang delegates by the Central Kuomintang means that it holds complete authority over all Kuomintang members, and this is contrary to the democratic spirit of the Kuomintang.

In reply to her proposition the Central Kuomintang council has promised to consider this question.

YANGTZE SHIPS IN COLLISION.

360 CHINESE DROWNED.

ARBITRATORS' AWARD.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16th.

In the matter of the collision between the Atsuta Maru and the Hsin Taming near Chinkiang on February 18th, in which it is estimated that 360 Chinese were drowned, the Shanghai Times states that three arbitrators awarded the Chinese owners of the Hsin Taming approximately $203,000. The two Japanese arbitrators dissented but it is understood that the signatures of the other three make the decision binding.

The Disaster.

The master of the Atsuta Maru, a 1,300 ton steamer, stated that the vessel was sailing down the river and had reached a point about 30 miles east of Chinkiang, when two small steamers were observed to be leaving the small river port, Tai-pingchow, and making up river.

How The Accident Happened.

The second of the steamers, the ill-fated Hsin Taming, attempted to cross the bows of the Atsuta Maru. A collision seemed imminent, and although the Japanese steamer reversed her engines, the Hsin Taming, of 700 tons, crashed into the port side, the Atsuta Maru being holed.

The damage to the Chinese steamer was even more severe. Her bows were crushed below the waterline, and she made water rapidly.

Heavy Death Roll.

The Hsin Taming floated for about an hour, but there were 350 Chinese passengers on board the vessel and a panic started which quickly spread, the men running about and interfering unintentionally with attempts at rescue.

A great many of the passengers jumped into the water, but the majority went down with the vessel.

The Atsuta Maru and a number of junks rescued about a hundred of the victims of the disaster, but even of these a great many died of cold and exposure.

REORGANISED SERVICE OF SALT LOANS.

CUSTODY OF FUNDS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

NANKING, Nov. 16th.

Mr. T. V. Soong's statement on the salt regulations recalls the purposes for which the Gabelle was created. It continues: "While the service of the Reorganization Loan itself has always been met from the Customs surplus, other loans consolidated under the reorganization loan agreement will be fully met by the Ministry of Finance."

However, it has been found necessary to revise the regulations governing the administration in order to make it effective. The part of the Nationalist Government under the exclusive control of the Ministry of Finance inspectorate will no longer be entrusted with the custody of the funds, except those provided by the Ministry of Finance to meet the service of the loans.

"The Minister of Finance assumes full responsibility for making adequate provision for loan services."

Mr. T. V. Soong has appointed Liu Tsung Yi as Chief Inspector of Salt and Mr. Hussey Freke as Associate Chief Inspector. The Chief Inspector, Mr. Liu, has been in the Customs for fourteen years.

LIU HSIANG'S BRIDGE OF BOATS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

According to a British Naval wireless message, the bridge of boats which served as a line of retreat for Liu Hsiang, is again in position at Chungking, the Treaty port 140 miles from the sea. This bridge is placed across Little River, one of the Yangtze's tributaries.

Liu Hsiang, it is thought, has put his bridge of boats up again, on account of Yang Sen's advance.

LADY MISSIONARY SHOT.

PEKING, Nov. 16th.

The British Legation has received confirmation of a report that an English Baptist missionary, Miss Grace Mann, was shot dead by bandits on November 15th whilst travelling between Taiyuan and Sincow. The bandits were sent on by the Chinese authorities.

GERMANY'S SUPER CRUISER.

MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

BUILT FOR SPEED.

The great improvements to be incorporated in the construction of Germany's new 10,000-ton cruiser were described by General Groener, the Minister of Defence, during a speech in the Reichstag.

The cruiser, which is one allowed under the Versailles Treaty, will be built for high speed. Her fighting capacity will be vastly superior to the existing 10,000-ton cruisers. It will exceed the radius of the heavy artillery of the old ships by 12 kilometres and fire three times the number of shots per minute.

Security against sinking is increased by a new kind of armour and under-water protection.

Weight will be saved by using, firstly, light metal wherever possible; secondly, by the electric method of welding; and, thirdly, by modern motors which will be only 5/8ths of the weight of machines used in 1913.

General Groener's speech was made in reply to a Socialist motion for cessation of construction, on the ground of economy.

The Reichstag is likely to reject this motion, although the Socialist Chancellor, Dr. Mueller, and other Socialist Ministers have to vote for it in accordance with the Party decision.

STATE BANQUETS IN JAPAN.

CONCLUSION OF THE ENTHRONEMENT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Kyoto, Nov. 16th.

PASSENGERS' GRAVE
ACCUSATION.

CREW HELP THEMSELVES.

NO DISCIPLINE.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

New York, Nov. 16th.

Half a dozen passengers examined by the United States attorney before the United States commissioner declared that as far as they were able to judge, the suddenness of the Festris' final plunge found officers and crew unprepared for the situation. They asserted that there was a marked absence of discipline and no orders were given. It was the passengers rather than the crew who appeared collected.

Witnesses alleged that the lifeboats, leaked, while water, food, flares and oars were missing. One witness, Mr. Frederick Puppe, who lost his wife and child, testified that members of the crew ran from boat to boat, and he thought they were collecting the best equipment for their own boats. He alleged that husbands (instancing himself) were ordered out of the boats; in which their wives and children were placed and in one instance members of the crew were allowed to take their places.

Correspondence Attached.

The attachment of the wireless correspondence alleged to have been exchanged between Capt. Carey of the Festris and the agents of Lamport and Holt in regard to the situation aboard the Festris has been ordered for the purposes of the Federal investigation of the disaster.

Points Of Investigation.

Twenty-two bodies of victims of the Festris disaster have been recovered and brought in by the three destroyers engaged in the search. Some of the bodies were found tangled among the wreckage of the ship, and among them is that of Major Yoshio Inouye, who was to have taken up a diplomatic post at Buenos Aires.

Madame Inouye, who was rescued, now lies in hospital in a serious condition.

Over sixty witnesses have been subpoenaed to attend the Federal inquiry into the disaster, which opened to-day.

The principal points of the investigation will be the numerous reports from the survivors, the crew, the door leading to the conkbunkers was found open and that the sea poured through with such volume that it could not be shut, resulting in fatal flooding; the stories of shifting cargo; the possibility of weak bulkheads; the ineffectiveness of ill-equipped lifeboats; and alleged delay in sending out a S.O.S. call.

Senator Fletcher has announced that he is prepared to ask for a Congressional inquiry into the disaster and meanwhile, Messrs. Lamport and Holt have begun their own private examination of the Festris.

RYE LIFEBOAT
DISASTER.DROWNED IN VIEW OF WATCHERS.

TRAGIC BRAVERY.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

London, Nov. 16th.

Fuller details are now reported of the disaster in which the whole of the crew of seventeen of the Rye motor-lifeboat lost their lives in a gallant attempt to go to the rescue of a ship in distress in the Channel.

Disaster overwhelmed the little craft in the full view of a band of anxious watchers on the cliffs, many of whom witnessed the death of their nearest relatives. The boat capsized as she was returning from answering the distress signal of the Latvian steamer Alice which had been badly battered by an angry tempest, and had to be abandoned by her crew.

The tragedy means that practically the whole of the fishing population of the tiny hamlet of Rye Harbour has been wiped out, and the disaster is said to be the worst in lifeboat history for 42 years.

Ten bodies have so far been recovered.

Just Too Late.

Five minutes after the lifeboat had put to sea in the most treacherous weather, a message was received on shore that the crew of the Alice had been rescued by the German s.s. Smyrna, and that no further assistance was required.

The lifeboat continued its battle unaware of this and crashed on a sandbank, overturning and burying its occupants in the waves.

Struggling In The Surf.

Watchers on the cliffs who saw the lifeboat capsize raced to the little village of Rye with the dread news and doctors, nurses and first aid men raced to a gap in the cliffs leading to the shore.

A human chain was formed and the men ran out to sea up to their necks in the boiling surf, while volunteers fought to rescue the floating dead bodies from a Channel grave.

Some little time later, the wrecked lifeboat itself was hurled ashore by the waves with two of the dead crew lying underneath it.

The storm was such that the Hastings lifeboat, which is not equipped with a motor, was unable to put out to the wreck of the Alice although they had also observed the distress signals.

BRITAIN'S GIFT-TO
NORWAY.LONELY ISLAND IN THE ANTARCTIC.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Nov. 16th.

The Norwegian Minister in London has been informed that the British Government is prepared to waive its claim to Bouvet Island and will raise no objection to its annexation by Norway.

Bouvet is a small island, five miles by four, in the Antarctic Ocean and is one of the most isolated group of islands in the world. Within a radius of 1,000 nautical miles there is no other land.

The island was first sighted by the Frenchman, Captain Bouvet, in 1739, and has frequently been rediscovered, notably by the Englishman, Captain Norris, in 1820, when the British flag was hoisted upon it. The island has never been inhabited and has been seldom approached by vessels.

Norwegians landed there a year or so ago, and it is understood that they wish to use it as a whaling depot.

POLITICAL MANOEUVRES
IN JAPAN.SEIYUKAI PARTY ENLISTS
SUPPORT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Osaka, Nov. 16th.

Newspapers report that the Seiyukai Party has succeeded in entrenching itself securely for the coming session of Parliament by enlisting the support of the Ishikai—a small Party of seven parliamentarians.

The understanding is announced as a result of agreement on Japan's China policy, which the Ishikai Party discussed last night with Mr. Kihara, the Minister of Communications.

Much political manoeuvring has been going on at Kyoto and Osaka, while leading politicians were gathered there on the occasion of the enthronement of the Emperor.

POINCARÉ'S POLICY
OF REPARATIONS.INDEMNITY AND FOREIGN DEBTS.

NEW CABINET ACCEPTED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PARIS, Nov. 15th.

Reparations, the religious issue and the necessity for pushing the budget through as rapidly as possible are the main features of a statement submitted by the new Poincaré Cabinet to the Chamber to-day. The Cabinet asked the Chamber for a vote of confidence in the reconstituted Ministry.

The Cabinet's declaration emphasises the paramount reasons why the vote on the budget should be taken before the end of the present year if the Government is to function satisfactorily.

With regard to Articles 70 and 71, which occasioned the severance of the Radical-Socialists from the former Ministry, the Government will engage, on its own responsibility, that the question of church missionaries will be loyally discussed with the shortest possible delay, and will be resolved in accordance with the national interest.

The declaration shows that big international negotiations for the settlement of the reparations problems are now in progress, and are proceeding favourably.

The Cabinet also commits itself to a promise to work powerfully for the rational organisation of world peace.

Reparations.

The most important passage in the statement of policy of the new Poincaré Cabinet, refers to reparations.

It says that there now seems to be no further obstacle to the appointment of experts to a round-table conference for a thorough discussion of the whole question, and the Government avows the opinion that the negotiations will be brought to a successful conclusion.

It adds that the destinies of France and Europe may very well depend upon a satisfactory settlement of the reparations question.

The statement adds that the new Government proposes to subordinate every question before the country to the restoration of French finances.

M. Poincaré said that he expected the Chamber to dispose of interpellations to-night and to begin the discussion of the Budget to-morrow.

France's Policy.

In the course of the debate, M. Poincaré reaffirmed his recent outline of the formula by which France would conduct her side of the reparations discussions, namely, an acceptance of a settlement which would allow her to pay her creditors in the United Kingdom and the United States, with an annual payment for reparations in addition.

The Chamber passed a vote of confidence in the new Government by 330 votes to 129.

The Radical-Socialists abstained from the vote of confidence.

AIRCRAFT EXHIBITION AT OLYMPIA.

AN EVENTFUL YEAR.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Nov. 15th.

An International Aircraft Exhibition will be held at Olympia, London, from July 18th to 27th next year. It is being organised by the Society of British Aircraft Constructors.

The last International Aircraft Exhibition held in Great Britain was in 1920, since when great progress has been made in design as well as in speed and endurance. The Exhibition will be thoroughly representative of all phases of aeronautics.

Considerable interest is being shown by foreign aircraft and aircraft-engine constructors, as well as by foreign Governments.

The wisdom of selecting next year for the Exhibition is apparent when it is realised that in 1929 many important aircraft events will take place within Great Britain. For example, the next Schneider Cup Race will be held in British waters next year.

SALVATION ARMY
LEADER.

CLAIMANTS FOR HIS POST?

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Nov. 16th.

To-night's bulletin regarding the condition of General Booth states: "The General had a restful day and is holding his own."

The High Council of the Salvation Army have been summoned to meet in London early in January. The International Headquarters in London issued a statement to-day declaring that the discussion of the General's condition was premature, if not, indeed, absurd.

LABOUR SCHEMES
CRITICISED.LORD PARMOOR'S MOTION
DEFEATED.DISARMAMENT POLICY DEFENDED.

RUGBY, Nov. 15th.

There was a short debate in the House of Lords to-day on the subject of disarmament. It was begun by Lord Parmoor, who was the British representative to the League of Nations when the Labour Government was in office in 1924.

Lord Parmoor moved that the House regretted that the British delegation to the recent meeting of the League Assembly did not give effective support to further a policy of disarmament and all-inclusive arbitration.

Labour Protocol.

Lord Cusendun, who is Acting Foreign Secretary and the present British representative to the League of Nations, replied. He referred Lord Parmoor to statements which he had already made on this subject.

He repudiated Lord Parmoor's submission that if the protocol proposed by the Labour Government had been accepted, everything else would have followed successfully. On the contrary he believed if the protocol had unfortunately been carried, so far from helping disarmament, we should have had to increase our naval and military forces in order to be in a position to make good our liabilities under that instrument.

Government's Efforts.

Continuing, Lord Cusendun said this country had given every possible demonstration of its desire to go to any possible length in the attempt to reach an agreement on disarmament. He entirely repudiated any idea that the backward position in regard to disarmament, which he regretted as much as Lord Parmoor, was due in any way of the acts or omissions of the present Government.

Bilateral Treaties.

The only point of disagreement between himself and Lord Parmoor was as to what were the most effective and feasible methods for the peaceful settlement of disputes. The Government preferred the method of bilateral treaties, or regional treaties, to those larger instruments which were left open for signature by any State which came along. He submitted that Lord Parmoor had utterly failed to substantiate the charge in his motion.

The motion was defeated by 33 votes to 10.

MOST BAFFLING DISEASE.

DIFFICULTY OF DIAGNOSING
SLEEPY SICKNESS.

ARE DOGS AFFECTED?

"In the treatment and diagnosis of 'encephalitis lethargica' (sleepy sickness) we are up against tremendously puzzling features all along the line," declared Miss K. May-Atkinson, in a lecture at the Chartered Society of Massage and Medical Gymnastics Congress.

"In fact," she added, "it is one of the most baffling of all diseases with which we have to deal. There has been a great deal of controversy as to whether encephalitis lethargica is a form of influenza or whether it is associated with influenza."

"All I can say is that the more I see of influenza, the more I am baffled by that, too, for we get a different type every year. The consensus of opinion is that influenza has nothing to do with sleepy sickness."

Mental Changes.

Referring to the mental changes in a child after he had recovered from an attack of sleepy sickness, Miss May-Atkinson said that thieving and lying tendencies and even homicidal and suicidal tendencies were displayed.

"We have all to face this great problem in the future," she continued. "We shall have an enormous number of children who will be called criminals unless you and I say that something must be done to prevent it. Public opinion must agitate for more institutions up and down the country for the treatment of these cases."

In the discussion which followed a member raised the question of a new disease which was manifesting itself among dogs in Hampshire. The symptoms were described as somewhat similar to the symptoms in certain cases of sleepy sickness among human beings. In some cases the dogs tore around almost as if they were mad and they showed signs of terror as well.

Miss May-Atkinson said she had heard of the new disease, and they were calling it influenza and treating the dogs with aspirin. She could not say whether there was any relation between this disease and sleepy sickness in human beings.

The New Club House.

The Hong Kong F.C. receive Kowloon F.C. to-day and the game will have an added interest as the new Club House will be officially opened by H.E. the Officer Administering the Government before the kick off. A very keen game is expected as each team will be out to secure their first League win of the season. L. Goldman the Shanghai Interporter will lead the Club attack, while the visitors will be weakened by the absence of Sims, who has been the mainstay of Kowloon team during the past three seasons.

Pile will be given another trial in the visitors defence on his showing with the Royal Navy last week. McKelvie will resume his old position in the side.

Navy v. China Athletic.

The Royal Navy will be strongly represented in their game at Caroline Hill against the China Athletic. The game should be well contested and a great crowd is expected. Although the Athletic are the favourites, the sound defensive play of Baker and Barkham should serve the Navy well. A couple of forwards with a bit of dash should account for the Athletic. Will Kernick, who played for Kowloon last season, rise to the occasion to-day?

King's Park will be the scene of a good tussle between South China and the Club de Recreo. Should South China forwards play their usual game, the home team will be behind when the final whistle sounds. Pau Ka Ping is on the injured list so the visitors will have to take over a junior goalkeeper.

Police And K.O.S.B.

On the Garrison ground at Sookunpoo, the Police will try to secure the points from the K.O.S.B. The military team is playing a strong game just now and the Police defence will be severely tested. With Clarke in his usual form and Wynne and Hudson holding Reeves, the Police should return with a point.

Queen's v. Small Units.

On the United Services ground, the top and bottom of the League will be in opposition. The Small Units have yet to secure a point, while the Queen's have secured the maximum.

With ten men last week, the Small Units ran South China to a goal and the visitors will make their rivals go all the way.

With a full programme of seven games in the junior football, some good play should be seen. The tit-bit of the series is the game between China Athletic and Queen's Regt., this game having been transferred from the H.K.F.C. ground to the United Services ground at Kowloon. The Athletic have secured full points to date while the Queen's dropped a point to South China. To-day should see the Queen's hold their own and the visitors will be lucky if they return with full points.

The Juniors.

At Caroline Hill, South China "B" meet the Gunners Reserves and a fine game should end in favour of the "B" team.

Kowloon Reserves and K.O.S.B. meet on the Railway ground at Kowloon and the result should be a win for the visitors.

The R.A.F. should have little difficulty in taking full points from South China "A" on the Athletic ground at Happy Valley.

St. Joseph's will have to play better than they have done in the last two matches to win against the University. The Student may have a difficulty in fielding a strong side owing to the examinations.

The visitors to King's Park in the junior division is the Royal Navy. They should take over a strong team and bring back full points.
The Eastern F.C. should beat the Small Units by a good margin.

MACAO RACES.

PROSPECTS OF INTERESTING MEETING.

RE-ARRANGEMENT OF PROGRAMME.

(By EARLY BIRD.)

There should be a bumper attendance at the eleventh extra race meeting which has been arranged by the Macao Race Club for Sunday, the 18th inst. The first saddling bell will be rung at 1 p.m. and the first race will commence at 1.30 p.m.

The entries are a little short of the number which participated at the last meeting and it looks as if there is going to be a scarcity of first class ponies. However, some of the entrants have well and truly kept their end up during the present season and doubtless we shall see some very interesting racing on Sunday afternoon.

The weather is ideal for racing at the moment and owing to the dry season the course should be in a very fine condition as was noticeable at Happy Valley last Saturday.

The Committee have changed the races round to some extent, and instead of the Novices Race opening the programme the meeting will be commenced with the lowest division of the Handicap Events.

CHANCES CONSIDERED.

The Iha Verde Handicap "D" Class.

What a field to be sure. The Handicapper has certainly given backers something to do to select a winner out of this bunch of quadrupeds. There are no winners of the present season amongst them, and although small fortunes have been staked on their chances from time to time, none of them have returned a cent except in place money. By way of a change instead of saying what I think will win, I am going to tell you what will not win. Mr. Rio—whose name I cannot remember having heard before—has distinguished himself by the fact that he has nominated four of his string in the first race and I find that three of these were the cause of my comment on owners running their ponies when they are out of condition.

Look Shaw, Kwongchow and Zebra are also amongst those who will not win, which leaves Ploughman, Movanager, Little Darling and Rio de Janeiro to supply the answer. There must be hundreds of punters who will shiver in their shoes at the very mention of the two first named on account of having backed them so often with disastrous results. However, a good bettor is never beaten, so I suppose their failures will be forgotten and they may be given another chance by their patient, if oft deceived supporters.

The Iha Verde Handicap "C" Class.

The top weight, Duke of Niebling, who has improved beyond measure, will take a lot of beating for this event especially if ridden by Wong. The Haugh, who shows plenty of pace in a short distance event, may figure prominently as he also shows promise of winning a race in the very near future. Verilake and Sutherland, who may also be expected to be amongst the placers, are ponies which require to have a race made to order before they are likely to catch the eye of the Judge. However, as they have a habit of rolling home when least expected I would warn backers not to disregard them altogether and back them for a place.

The Iha Verde Handicap "B" Class.

With Fuchan relegated from "A" Class to "B" Class it looks as if all is over bar collecting the money. Still he may not have it all his own way as U. Un II, has also been lowered to this class and although he carries a lot of weight he is a big danger as he is a sprinter and will not be troubled by his weight. Blue World will bear inspection after his display at the "Valley" last week and Glory and Sunning are not entirely out of the picture. I had almost forgotten Zircon II, who will appear under a new name, Vila Branca, having changed hands since the last meeting.

The Iha Verde Handicap "A" Class.

This event contains only five nominations with the possibility of only two or three starters. My Lady, the pony recently acquired by Mr. H. Hashim, the owner of Sunning, is sure to be a pretty firm candidate here as she is at the top of her form whereas all the other entrants with the exception of Ma Kau Siac, have only recently arrived from Shanghai and in consequence will not be in proper condition to stand a strenuous contest. Activity according to my form book is about the pick of the bunch, and should therefore secure a place. Desert Wind is also a stranger to me but as he did not look too bad after a very unpleasant trip I have an idea he may secure a place also.

Fourth Aggregate Stakes.

Ma Kau Siac is a dead certainty for this event if he is not opposed by My Lady. As the first named has eight points to his credit in the Aggregate Stakes it also appears as if he will eventually win the Cup. My Lady, however, may be sent out to give him a fight for it in which case a very thrilling contest will be the outcome, as My Lady was only beaten by a neck at the last meeting in the very good time of 2.07.4-5. Ma Kau Siac will have to carry 168 lbs. which is a heavy burden to hump when he gives a pony who is nearly as good as himself nine pounds. If Veloz is sent out here he should secure a place.

The Novices' Race.

Ace of Spades if started for this race should just about win, as a careful scrutiny of the other candidates leads me to believe that the field is mostly composed of minors unless U. Un II, or Sutherland is sent out, which might alter matters. The Duke of Niebling may start here and despite the fact that he requires a lot of riding to keep him up, he may catch the Judge's eye at the finish.

Consolation Plate.

Glory, who is a handy little speedster over half a mile, should be able to show the opposition home in the closing race of the day. Veloz would also be in the running if sent out here and Zircon will have to be taken into consideration also as he likes the distance. Other ponies who may have a chance are Sutherland and Tarran.

SELECTIONS.

My selections are as follows:—

1st Race.

1. Ploughman.
2. Movanager.
3. Little Darling.

2nd Race.

1. Ace of Spades.
2. The Haugh.

6th Race.

1. Ace of Spades.
2. Duke of Niebling.
3. Rio de Janeiro.

7th Race.

FOREIGNER KILLED IN RICKSHA ACCIDENT.

WATERSIDE TRAGEDY IN JAPAN.

Kobe, Nov. 6th.
While returning this morning about 1 o'clock to his ship, President Jackson, on which he was a passenger, Mr. Frederick Austin Edmondson, representative in Shanghai of Johnson and Johnson Drug Company, of New Brunswick, New Jersey, met an untimely death when the ricksha in which he was riding turned over and dropped into the sea near the corner of Pier 1 in front of the Mitsubishi Warehouse.

Mr. Edmondson, in company with four other passengers, was returning to his ship from the Oriental Hotel. The ricksha in which he was riding was the last of the four. The accident occurred when the fatal corner was reached. At this juncture the three other rickshas took the road around the shed on the pier, while that of Mr. Edmondson attempted a short cut along the road between the shed and the sea. The President Jackson was docked close to the P. & O. liner, Kyber, on the further end of the pier.

The ricksha, who apparently was a stranger around the waterside, was proceeding round the corner when suddenly the large tow-rope extending from the Kyber to the pier (which up to then was invisible on account of the darkness) came into view and precipitated them into the sea.

The ricksha was saved by crew members of the Kyber and rickshamen nearby, but the body of Mr. Edmondson could not be found. Search was instituted which lasted until 11 o'clock this morning when his body was discovered a few feet away at the bottom of the sea near the spot where the ricksha fell. The water there was about 20 feet deep.

The tragic incident was immediately notified to the Water Police, the Dollar Steamship Company, and to the local British Consulate, the victim being a native of England, and it was upon the order from these authorities that the search was instituted. It is believed by eye-witnesses that Mr. Edmondson died from a blow received on the side of the head, where a wound near the right ear is showing. Stunned by this blow, he probably drowned.

Mr. Edmondson was 29 years of age. As far as could be learned he has a younger brother in Yokohama who is with the Standard Oil Company, and his wife and two children preceded him by the Dollar liner, President Pierce, to Leeds, England. Mr. Edmondson has lived in Shanghai for a number of years, and was on his way to England to join his family.

"THE PLAY GIRL."

COMING TO QUEEN'S THEATRE.

A light hearted romance, which critics have warmly praised, "The Play Girl," is to be the feature film at the Queen's Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday next. Madge Bellamy is the leading player and the story deals with the life of a little shop girl tired of work and hungry for beautiful clothes and amusement. Instead of the usual tragic, sordid picture this theme usually calls forth, Arthur Rosson the director, has made it a happy romance of youth, alive with laughter. Johnny Mack Brown plays the poor man in love with Miss Bellamy and Walter McGrail appears as the rich one, also in love, but not sufficiently to want to marry her. A strong cast supports Miss Bellamy in what is said to be one of the best comedy dramas of the season.

YESTERDAY'S FREIGHT RETURNS.

LOCAL IMPORTS IMPROVE.

THROUGH FREIGHTS STILL VERY GOOD.

The cargo returns for the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday were very satisfactory. The imports showed an increase, and although the through freights were slightly lower than the previous day's figures, they remained above average. Sixteen arrivals and seventeen departures were shown of which three arrivals and seven departures were British ships. British cargo returns, however, were only fair.

Local imports from twelve vessels amounted to 21,260 tons of which 1,384 tons were contributed by two British ships. The two best returns were from the s.s. Heron (Norwegian) arriving from Tonkin with 7,771 tons of general cargo, and the s.s. Apocry (British) with 4,000 tons of coal from Hongkong.

Seven vessels carried 22,153 tons of through freights of which 2,747 tons were contributed by two British vessels. The best carrier was the s.s. Delhi (Swedish) with 7,391 tons of general cargo from Gothenburg and Colombo. The s.s. Viminale (Italian) arriving from Yokohama and Shanghai carried 5,000 tons.

The arrivals and departures during the period under review were as follows:

Norwegian	4	0
Chinese	3	3
Danish	1	0
Dutch	0	1

The Magistrate recorded a conviction and intimated to the defendant that if he wished to carry the bags of saw-dust he should have hired a licensed cargo boat. A fine of $10 was imposed.

American Express Travelers Cheques

Definition of TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES—
"The system of Travellers' Cheques was originated in 1891 by the American Express Company with the object of creating a form of travel currency which would give the holder the security of a letter of credit and at the same time the convenience of local currency. The Company registered the cheques under the trade name of 'AMERICAN EXPRESS TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES' the word 'Travellers' being spelled with one 'l'. The advantage of the Cheques was so apparent that other banking institutions adopted the system."

Quoted from Filman's Dictionary of Banking by Wm. Thomas.
Issued in $10, $20, $50, $100, and £5, and £10 denominations—bound in a small handy wallet—and cost only 1/4 of 1 per cent.
